

BELIEVE AGAIN * Black River Publishing, Written by Paul Austin
Cunningham and Sarah Ann Darling

When you found me, you found broken
You found a wounded heart
And when you held me, you put me together like you were the missing part
I prayed I find a love like this and here you are

You make me shine like a sunrise
Sparkle like a diamond ring
You make me fly like a sparrow
With a broken wing
Who forgot to sing
You make me dance like nobody's watching me
Dream like a child and then
You make me believe in love again
In love again
You make me believe in love again

You make it easy, to trust in a feeling
And just let go
And when I start to doubt you call me out
You already know
I never felt this close to heaven here on earth

You make me shine like a sunrise
Sparkle like a diamond ring
You make me fly like a sparrow
With a broken wing
Who forgot to sing
You make me dance like nobody's watching me
Dram like a child and then
You make me believe in love again
In love again
You make me believe in love again

You make me shine like a sunrise
Sparkle like a diamond ring
You make me fly like a sparrow
With a broken wing
Who forgot to sing
You make me dance like nobody's watching me
Dream like a child and then
You make me believe in love again
In love again
You make me believe in love again